SKILLS AT LEVEL B1

One of the questions you might ask yourself when you read this information is, what language competences characterize a person who can prove they have a level B1 in English? The CEFRL specifies the following:

- Is able to understand the main points of clear texts in standard language if they are about topics with which they are familiar, whether in work, study or leisure contexts.
- Can cope with most of the situations that might arise on a trip to areas where the language is used.
- Is able to produce simple, coherent texts about topics with which they are familiar or in which they have a personal interest.
- Can describe experiences, events, wishes and aspirations, as well as briefly justifying opinions or explaining plans.
